Question 5: Congressman Robert Aderholt of Alabama was invited to travel to La Paz, Bolivia and Bogota, Columbia to give encouragement to the teams of people who work with us in both countries to care for the poor. In Bolivia, he will meet with Parliamentarians who will attend their Prayer Breakfast to share with them the benefits of having a small parliamentary fellowship group within that body, how it strengthens the government and then trickles down to bring change to the people of the nation. The trip to Bogota is to encourage the Parliamentarians who are meeting in a small group together around the person of Jesus. Congressman Aderholt is known by many leaders in Latin America because of his involvement with the Prayer Group in the US House and his concern for the people of Latin America and other parts of the world.

Question 12: The location of La Paz was chosen for Latin American Gathering and Bolivia National Prayer Breakfast by the Latin Core who help organize of the event each year. The trip to Bogota is to encourage the Parliamentarians who are meeting in a small group together around the person of Jesus.

Question 13: A small team of responsible people who either live in Latin America or travel there frequently (aka the Latin Core) provides guidance and advice to the organizers on the ground of the Latin American Gathering and Bolivia National Prayer Breakfast.

Question 17: The Latin American Gathering and Prayer Breakfast rotates between countries in that region every year. The Latin Core determined that those in Bolivia would be most encouraged if the events were held in their country. The Bolivian team also was in a position to host such a large event this year.

Question 18: In La Paz, Bolivia the lodging facility will be Hotel Europa. The lodging facility is yet to be determined for the stay in Bogota, Columbia.

Question 20: Hotel Europa was chosen because it is the location in which the events of the Latin American Gathering and Bolivia National Prayer Breakfast will be held. In Columbia, the hotel will be based on the location, availability and rate per night.
